

Global Executive MBA (Defence and Space)

Developed and delivered in partnership with:

Carnegie Mellon University
Tepper School of Business

University of Exeter

Shaping the future of defence and space

Adelaide University's Global Executive MBA (Defence and Space) is a unique collaboration with experts in the US and UK to meet the workforce development needs of an expanding industry.

This tailored executive MBA program is designed for senior leaders, personnel and public servants who are shaping the future of the defence and space industries on an international scale.

The 18-month program is delivered across three countries: Australia, the US and the UK. It comprises intensive in-country residentials delivered by local defence experts interspersed with high quality online learning.

The Global Executive MBA (Defence and Space) is designed for:

- Defence and space specialists transitioning to senior management/executive roles
- Senior managers in government who oversee defence and space-related portfolios
- Senior managers from adjacent industries working with, or transitioning to, the defence and space sector
- Serving and former defence personnel and veterans seeking to develop their careers.

Applicants who are citizens of any of the "Five Eyes" and other allied nations are eligible to apply.

adelaideuni.edu.au